"GO YE"

"Let us run with patience the race that is set before us." The Hebrew writer spoke these words as a pattern for us and we have seen this pattern strongly exemplified in the life of our own beloved Dean.

Although he has the double duty of being both Dean and Acting President, yet never is he too busy to share our problems with us. His patience and understanding are greatly cherished by every member of the student body.

Because of his willingness to use his many abilities for the advancement of the Lord's work, we do, with sincere humbleness, dedicate this publication to our own . . . HAROLD B. MILLIKEN.

Junior College Star, John Filatreau

During second semester Johnny played with the Junior College Blackhawks. He was just the man they needed to help them win the majority of their games. He also was an outstanding team player, and popular with his teammates and the fans. Thus, he has proven to be outstanding both as a preacher and basketball player.

Nebraska Christian College is indeed fortunate to have made special arrangements with the Norfolk Music Studios.

Voice and instrumental instructions are given free of charge to the students of the college.

Mr. Osbon, who is head of the Norfolk Music Studios, has spent his life in the field of music education and thus he is well equipped to further advance the musical knowledge of our students.

Nearly every student of the college is taking some course in music because of this wonderful opportunity afforded us.

THE MILLIKENS'
Prof, Greta and Bobby

Our professors have been given the responsibility of guiding the college family and they also have families of their own to guide, that they might walk in His footsteps.

Because they love our Lord and have manifested His love in their lives, we know that they always strive to guide both families aright.

"Life, beautifully lived, is an art. To each has been given, by a benevolent Creator, the raw materials out of which life is made. This is the business of life; namely, to make out of the rough materials of daily opportunity, the shapeless mass of crude experience, the unpromising failures of the past, a life that is attractive, and beautiful, and of enduring value."

Our "Mom," under the guidance of the Master Artist, is helping her "girls" to make their Masterpieces works of beauty.

"A wise man will hear, and will increase learning."

Proverbs 1:5a

Could it be that Wayne and Elmer have really been studying?

Wayne is the student minister at Orchard, Nebraska, and Elmer is the student minister at Ewing, Nebraska.

They also sing in the newly organized boys' quartet.

Lewis works at Brown McDonald's besides going to college full time, so he is kept quite busy. He loves to draw and is an exceptionally good artist.

Earl is a very consecrated and ambitious student of the "Word." He works at the Deep Rock Service Station. During his spare time he plays his guitar.

I wonder what Frank and Larry are looking at??

Frank finds himself working at Ward's Service Station during school day afternoons and also on Saturdays. Larry preaches for the Fairview, Nebraska congregation.

They also sing in the boys' quartet.

Fourth Annual N. E. C. Convention

THE MISSIONARIES

Our convention this year included five missionary sessions in addition to the regular preaching convention. The speakers for both conventions very impressively developed their subjects around the general theme: "ARE YE ABLE?"

OPEI' FORUM SPEAKERS

GUY P. LEAVITT

Our attendance this year was the largest ever. There were 329 different registrations with representatives from 11 different states. All who attended were inspired to greater heights of service.

MISSIONARY DISPLAY

N.C.C. BOYS' QUARTET

In addition to Mr. Leavitt's very fine display for the STANDARD PUBLISHING COMPANY, the MISSIONARY and MISSIONARY RECRUITS were also given the opportunity to display the work of their respective fields. The church basement was used for this purpose.

1953 SPRING CONCERT

Under the capable leadership of Mr. Bert Paul Osbon, the "APPLIED MUSIC CLASS" presented a very lovely Concert. This Concert was presented on May 15.

RELIGIOUS DRAMA CLASS

This was the first year that we had a RELIGIOUS DRAMA class, but the class did remarkably well at the recital. Mr. Hanson had charge.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The seniors presented "Opened Eyes" as their class play. This was a Biblical drama and depicted the life of one who had been born blind, but was made to see.

FORMAL TEA

The ADELPHIANS sponsor a Formal Tea each spring. This year our theme was "SHOWERS FROM HEAVEN". This theme was followed in both the program and the decorations. Inspirational fun and fellowship was enjoyed by all.

CHALK ART CLASS

The CHALK ART and RELIGIOUS DRAMA classes presented a combined recital this year. Miss Fauneil Palmer had charge of the Chalk Art Class and they did a very commendable job at the recital, which was given May 6.

JOHN FILATREAU, HONOR STUDENT

"Congratulations, Johnny, your class is proud of you!"

Will and Prophecy of 53

The graduating class of nineteen hundred and fifty-three, being sound of body and reasonably so in mind, do hereby bequeath the following items to the innocent remaining students of our dear old NCC.

To the Freshmen we will the hours wasted (?) sleeping. Perhaps you can find enough of them to get you through a semester.

To the Sophomore class we leave two more years of study.

The Juniors we just leave—they'll take care of the rest.

The following miscellaneous items and articles are bequeathed to individuals—

Ilene wills the task of cleaning the college building to Loretta and her cooking ability to the girls at the dorm.

Johnny wills his position as center on the basketball team to Larry and his bass voice to Lewis. John would also will the student body presidency to anyone big enough to fill his shoes.

Clyde wills his carpentry ability to Elmer. (I wish he would will his car to me!)

Dorothy Gullickson bequeaths the library to anyone who can keep it quiet. Dorothy might will some small grey mice to certain parties, but I guess she is saving them for another victim.

Keith and Mary Louise's last will and testament reads somewhat like this:
To all students who drive late on Sunday night, we will our ability to sleep late on Monday morning, or through those 8 o'clock classes.

To Larry, I, Keith, bequeath my ability to go into debt. I'm sure Larry will share this item with anyone who has trouble incurring debts.

To Wayne and Lewis, I, Mary Louise, by request, will my piano-playing ability in equal shares with the provision that they use it by playing duets.

To any of the single boys who want it, we bequeath the privilege of taking Ila Belle to Missouri Valley on week ends. (At least they can ride with her!)

Ed Maertens wills his Dairy Queen pineapple milkshake to anyone who can afford it. Midge wills her bark to Fauneil and Earl so they can reach the top on the Hit Parade with "The Doggie in the Window."

Edgar White leaves his handiman ability, as well as the title of the oldest student, to Lloyd Sapp; and, says Edgar, "anyone who wants the joy and sorrow might try to preach in more churches than I".

Dorothy Nelson wills her job to Alice and her ability to move swiftly she bequeaths to her roommate, Joni.

Dorothy Gullickson also wills for the Annual Staff to the College, the new name for our Annual . . .

PROPHECY

Psalms 103:15, 16 . . . "As for man, his days are as grass; as the flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more."

To look upon a tight-lipped bud
One can but try to guess
What secret lies beneath its folds,
What hidden blossoms dress
Its slender stalk.

The tiny green buds which we see all about us are a kind of mystery. During the long winter we have almost forgotten what their ancestors looked like. We anticipate with joy the day when that bud reveals its inner self, its beauty in formal attire. Flowers display their dewey faces, and share their perfume with the world. They nod happily in the gardens or stand patiently in oriental vases and modestly allow the world to drink in their beauty. They are used to make young ladies happy, to bring beauty and life to the resting place of a loved one, to dispense their nectar to the seeking bees, to arouse the curiosity of a child, and to glorify their Creator. They lend themselves to whatever purpose they are to fulfill. All too soon their dress is worn, and falls from them, leaving only the barren stem to shrivel and die. But in treasured books remain the pressed evidence of their fruit; on a lonely grave the sympathetic petals mingle with the soil; on the slice of bread in a golden-haired child's hand is spread the honeyed nectar from their blossoms; in a child's heart is new knowledge sown; and all nature awaits the new spring when their children don their fragile gowns.

We, who remain a short time yet within these blessed walls of NCC, prophesy that many shall drink of the nectar, pluck their beauty, and capture the perfume from the blossoms of these whom we send into the world to fulfill the purpose in life ordained by their Creator. Though their time may be short, as indeed all time is, the memories shall be long, and the beauty which they display in their springtime shall not die in the winter, but only rest until their posterity shall blossom in the new spring.

But for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."
—Joshua 24:15c

Not only is Dale temporary field representative for Nebraska Christian College, but he also ministers to the church at Neligh, Nebraska.

His wife, Anita, and their two girls, Lynn and Julie, are an inspiration to his work. They serve the Lord together.

THE ROBERTSONS

THE FILATREUS'

John, Ilene, David, and their little newcomer, Louis Lloyd, have lived in the college basement during most of the current school year. They have done a wonderful job keeping the grounds and buildings in fine shape.

THE GULLICKSONS'

Going to and from college seemed to prove quite a problem with Ed and Edith Mae at times, since there was only one family car and they had to be at school at different times!

They have a lovely apartment at 608 Pasewalk. Remember the night we had Senior class play practice there?

THE MAERTENS'

"God is our refuge and strength. . ."
—Psalms 46:1

THE PURSCHELLS'

Keith and Mary Louise reside at 300 North Cottonwood. They are both Seniors this year and so are very busy, but maybe it helps to keep them out of mischief?? The Senior class play would hardly have been a success without them.

Lloyd, Loretta, Ronnie and Dickie are happy in their home at 315 North Pine. This is their second year at Norfolk. Loretta takes classes and she also has to see that Ronnie and Dickie get off to school each day. They serve the Southside church at Council Bluffs, Iowa, and they journey there each week end.

917 South 5th Street is the residence of the Edgar White family. Vincent, Stephen and Roxanne occupy much of Lucy and Edgar's time, but they are convinced that their children are well worth it. Edgar did a splendid job of playing the part of "Caiaphas" in the Senior class play, "Opened Eyes."
